About Healthcare Intelligence

Healthcare Intelligence is a new service from Buckinghamshire Healthcare NHS Trust Library and Information Service that gathers the latest journal articles, news and PubMed searches on a range of healthcare areas.

The service gathers RSS feeds from journals, NHS Evidence and other healthcare sites.

Once you are on the site, click on the tab for your healthcare area.

Healthcare areas covered:

- Anaesthesia
- Child Health
- Commissioning
- Endocrinology
- Dietetics
- Infection Control
- Medical Imaging
- Mental Health
- Midwifery
- Older People
- Occupational Therapy
- Palliative Care
- Physiotherapy
- Plastic Surgery
- Speech & Language Therapy
- Spinal Injury
- Women’s Health
- BMJ/Lancet/JAMA/NEJM
Viewing journal content and news headlines

For Journals:
Items from journal feeds titled in GREEN are freely available or are available by using your NHS Athens account. You may need to click on ‘Log in with Athens’ to get an Athens login box.

Items from journal feeds titled in RED may be available from print journals held in Buckinghamshire Hospital Trust Libraries or can be requested by completion of an inter-library loan request form.

For news headlines and PubMed searches:
Depending on the site the item comes from, you may be able to access the full-text or you may be able to see the abstract.

Disclaimer
This is a trial service, and relies on third-party services for software and content so we can’t guarantee its continued availability, although we will try to provide an alternative if possible.

Not all healthcare journals provide an RSS feed of recent content, so we’re not always able to add these to our site. Because the service gathers information from a variety of sources, it may take a few seconds for a tab to load fully, and occasionally not all modules will load.
