Welcome

Buckinghamshire Healthcare NHS Trust aims to provide high quality care and services for our patients. We want to know when things go well and also help you when you have any concerns or questions about your treatment. This leaflet tells you about the different ways to contact us if you have any concerns, complaints or compliments.

If you have a concern about your care or about any aspect of our service, please speak to the member of staff who is with you at the time. They may be able to resolve your concerns straight away.

If the staff member is unable to assist you, your first point of contact is the Trust's Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS).

PALS is a confidential service; we will not share any information you give us without your permission

PALS is an informal service which:

- acts as a central contact point where you can obtain a wide range of information about the NHS and other services
- is a confidential service; we will not share any information you give us without your permission
- aims to resolve any concerns or problems you have as promptly as possible
- by listening to your views and comments, will aim to instigate changes to improve our services
- if you feel your concerns have not been resolved satisfactorily, will guide you through the Trust's complaints process and provide you with information about external independent services who can assist you if you wish to make a formal complaint.
